POSTAL REGULATORY COMMISSION
OF THE SECRETARY

Dear Commissioners:

It is my understanding that Louis DeJoy is planning on more curtailment of the U.S. post office services. I want to register my strong and heartfelt opinion to disagree with that policy.

If anything, we should be making access to postal services easier, not more difficult! Many people rely on medicine and other essential items, and especially customers in the rural areas of the country.

The post office is a well-regarded American institution, which needs to be strengthened. Mr. de Joy is out of touch with the pulse of the post office public. He should be removed and a competent person with years of post office experience should be hired in his place.

Sincerely,
Cynthia J. Crawford
